Riesling and Friends

Few beverages in the world can hold the esteem that the supremely aromatic Riesling has globally, and at all the spectrum's ends – in Germany and Austria, the wines that boast a purity and sweetness carried by a lick of structural acid and texture find themselves the most prized, where few Australian wine drinkers have grown without knowing the lazer-dry styles of the Clare.

- 2018 Dom Valentine Riesling, Yarra Valley VIC 65
Undoubtably one of the best Australian winemakers you've never heard of, Victoria's Dom Valentine comes with a heavy hitting resume and Riesling is definitely a strong suit – well worth a lash.
- 2018 Le Petit Vanguard Riesling, Clare Valley SA 58
- 2018 Frankland Estate 'Poison Hill' Riesling, Frankland River WA 74

- 2017 Alzinger 'Mühlpoint' Grüner Veltliner Federspiel, Wachau AUT 92
A family winery on the banks of the Danube, the Alzingers work with the utmost respect for their environment and a minimal intervention philosophy in Vineyard and Cellar. This 'Mühlpoint' Federspiel is a bracing playoff between classic Grüner spicyness and the regional minerality for which Wachau is known.
- 2017 Astobiza Txakoli, Basque ESP 68
Never tried Txakoli ("Cha-ko-lee")? Not sure why you'd want to deprive your tastebuds of that refreshment, but ok...

Riesling, Saar GER 275

"Grösses Gewachs" is a German Riesling producer's version of a Grand Cru; in the case of Florian Lauer, his usual terroir-driven style is amplified here. The Saarfeilser exemplifies all this; somewhere between dry and off dry, but tremendous structure, power and balance.

2014 Ansgar Clusseräth Trittenheimer Apotheke Riesling

The Big Boys

It's no secret that Australians like to drink big wines. From rich soils and loads of sunshine come rich sugars, rich flavours and big, high alcohol styles that has made Australian wine famous. As the Australian industry matures, the exploration of newer wine growing regions, and the observance of modern thinking towards wine making has ensured that what our wines make up in weight is not at the expense of complexity and finesse.

Whether it's stopping the ferment with a distilled brandy, slightly drying the grapes on straw or just choosing grapes with a touch of the Noble Rot the finest sweet wines the world over can be a perfect end to any meal.*

Vodka 30 mL/60 mL

Vodka is a pretty relaxed category of spirit. Made from anything that contains starch and distilled in pretty much any way; as long as you can blast it up to high proof relatively quickly, you can produce vodka. High quality vodka, on the other hand, takes a little more craftsmanship.

Tequila/Mezcal

Tequila and Mezcal are both a part of one big, happy family – made in Mexico from members of the Agave family, that's pretty much where the similarities end. Tequila, from the Blue Weber Agave, speaks of sweetness and soft fruit, whereas Mezcal, made from any member of the Agave family, presents mineral, faint smoke and earth.
